TAG_2021

The 2021 TAG conference, hosted by Antiquity

Accepted Sessions

Our accepted sessions are listed below (please note these have been renumbered from previous conference plans!).

We have re-opened the call for papers through October 2021. Some of the sessions will have space for additional papers, please get in touch with session organisers.

1. Archaeology: why are we doing this
2. Same shit, different day: Has archaeological theory stagnated?
3. Archaeology and the Climate Crisis
4. Withdrawn
5. (In)equalities of being. Social, Economic, Cultural, and Territorial dichotomies and similarities.
6. Living in Material Worlds: New theoretical and technical approaches to object biographies
7. The Lives of Things in Human Mindscapes: Developing Approaches to Cognition in Archaeology
8. Ethics and Posthumanism in Archaeology: the unexamined life.
9. Life in the land of the dead: skyscape archaeology and the ontology of other worlds
10. The politics of humanism and posthumanism: making common ground
11. Life on the move: The movement of people and things in prehistoric contexts
12. TAGging through time: new perspectives on graffiti and mark-making, from ancient to modern times.
13. Life in Texts, Life in Materials

14. Withdrawn
15. Everyday Life and Ritual Life – Can We Distinguish?
16. Sensing textiles and cogitating crafting theory
17. Historical Ecological Lives in a Digital Ethos: understanding past life in current-state Landscape Archaeology
18. Gender in death: approaches to revealing gendered experiences in funerary contexts
19. On Artificial Past Lives: Uses and Consequences of Artificial Intelligence, Data Science and Simulation in Archaeology
20. A Place to Call Home: The Archaeology of Space and Belonging
21. Lost Souls: Breathing life into the fragmented dead
22. Archaeologies of the near future
23. Experimental Archaeology as Performance
24. Publishing with Antiquity